Starz Entertainment and Comcast Enter into New Affiliation Agreement

Englewood, Colo. and Philadelphia, Pa. — June 29, 2010 — Starz Entertainment, LLC, which operates 16 premium movie channels including the flagship Starz and Encore brands, and Comcast Corporation (NASDAQ: CMCSA, CMCSK) announced that the companies have entered into a new, comprehensive affiliation agreement for the distribution of Starz Entertainment’s Starz, Encore and MoviePlex premium channels, in addition to the related HD, On Demand, HD On Demand, and online advanced services. The new deal replaces the separate Starz and Encore agreements between the companies. Financial terms of the multi-year agreement were not disclosed.

As part of the deal, the companies have reached a long-term distribution agreement for Starz Entertainment’s suite of authenticated online broadband product offerings. Comcast Pay-Per-View, Starz and Encore subscribers receive Starz Online and Encore Online, each offering 300 distinct movies and other episodes of original programming with approximately 80% in HD for Starz Online and 50% in HD for Encore Online. MoviePlex Online, expected to launch later this summer, will have at least 120 additional unique movies and TV series episodes, with many in HD and will offer additional monthly bonus selections.

“Comcast is pleased to continue its partnership with Starz Entertainment and bring the wide selection of exclusive movies and increasingly popular original content to our existing and prospective Starz, Encore and MoviePlex customers,” said Matt Bond, Executive Vice President of Content Acquisition for Comcast. “Extending the broader relationship between the companies provides a great pipeline of commercial-free movies and original programming for years to come.”

At the time of this announcement, Comcast executives are in Philadelphia, Pa. for the announcement. Comcast executives are in Philadelphia, Pa. for the announcement.
